Jejozi 4.0 out of 5 stars The bands on that model are rather flimsy and I had hoped this model, with the rubber band, would last longer, but the company sent me the wrong one, so now I have two metal band watches. Oh, well. That said, I do love this watch. My everyday watch has been a Casio for over 30 years. They last forever. The only problem I've had with them is with the tabs the band pins go in have broken after many years of use. The guts work fine, but I can't put a band on them. Anyway, this model is another keeper. I like the bigger numbers and all the alarms. I use three of the alarms every day and the timer numerous times every day. I used the stopwatch when my kids were on the swim team. And there's no need to worry about a battery. It's a versatile and, I think, a nice looking watch. As they reach into their pocket I slightly twist my wrist and tell them. And, since I've been wearing a watch since about 1966, I feel strange when it's not there, constantly looking at my naked wrist. Inexpensive, multi functional and long lasting. So, if this is a style you like, you can't go wrong. It's my morning alarm clock. It keeps great time and the world time is great when traveling. Just give it sunshine a few hours a week and it will stay fully charged forever.

Can't give it 5 stars because of the watch band wearing out. One of the buttons lower left side cracked but the watch still works. I ordered a new one just in case the cracked button stops working in the future. You need to set it on a sunny window ledge for a couple of hours if you want it to get to three bars, but it doesn't affect performance. My wife commented that my new watch is classier than my old Casio Databank 150 calculator watch, and I'd have to agree. This one is waterproof and tougher. I miss the calculator function though. Also, I went through a resin strap every two years with my old watch; the strap on the new watch is resin as well, but custom shaped, so I'd probably better buy some replacement straps now, before they become unavailable in 5 years or so, as generic replacements will probably not fit or look awful. Walmart sells it cheaper. The watch is quality made and it works well. BRITTLE, CRACKS, after a small amount of time. Watch was fine, but TOO MUCH TO REPLACE CRAP BAND. Shame on you Casio. MY FAULT NO battery to replace. Even ten years out. if you ever have to replace the watch strap let somebody do it that knows how to do it properly. NOT a normal "spring bar". Reasonable price. It arrived without a full charge, but placing it under a lamp for the number of hours specified by the instruction manual brought it to a full charge. After a time, it started to run down. I contacted the Watchtronics, inquiring about an exchange for a replacement watch, and indicating that as an alternative to a new watch, I would accept a new special Casio solar rechargeable battery IF they could direct me to a Casio authorized service center within a reasonable distance of my home because the manual indicates that the special battery should be replaced by an authorized service center. If I were Amazon, I would cut ties with this seller. Their lack of appropriate response is an indication that they do not uphold Amazon's excellent commitment to customer service.

It looks better in real life than on the picture. As per any Casio does a multitude of things. I really like the day counter and database functions, have managed to store all important numbers in it. The only con is that the mineral glass is plastic so will be easy to scratch, that said have had it for a few months now and despite rough treatment during DIY is still in good condition and works perfectly. For an everyday watch would highly recommend it. Sorry, we failed to record your vote. I am a techie and I love digital stuff. I like being accurate and the this helps know the exact time at all times. I always wanted a similar watch with 1 World Time 2 Stopwatch 3 multi alarms 4 timer 5 Snooze and Hour signal 6 Light 8 DATA BANK. You can actually set alarms for future times which can serve as reminders. You can store 30 numbers and names and other genral alphanumeric data on the watch. I store my work related passwords and keys. Supports 16 languages, has daylight saving functionality. Shows the complete date along with the Day on the screen. You dont need to press a button to see the date. Then it also has an auto light functionality. And it is a solar watch, how cool is that. None of your friends are really gonna have a solar watch, I can bet that. Initially in needs some direct sunlight after that it survives on indoor lighting and whatever daylight it can get.

Pros Lightweight, Solar, Clear display Good backlight Comes with a complete manual Power saving functionality Big enough strap Looks decent, can go with a formal attire. What could have been better, The glass on the top can get scratches easily, since it has to be a vlear glass for sunlight to seep in. The starp could a little hard new when new but it softens with usage. The buckels I wish was metal. Also sweat gets accumulated under the dial, if you can get a cloth strap get that from a local shop. Rest the watch is great, functions very well and I am very happy with it.
